Allergens: all you need to know

Understand the latest allergen best practices and how to follow them

To protect the estimated two million people living with a diagnosed food allergy in the UK, the Food Standards Agency (FSA) has updated its guidelines. These are designed to help Out of Home businesses make allergen information clearer to customers.

Since the introduction of Natasha's Law, businesses have had to include clear allergen labels on any prepacked for direct sale (PPDS) foods.

From March 2025, these guidelines have been extended to include non-prepacked or loose foods that are sold in person or via online sales by restaurants, cafés, food trucks and takeaway services.

Alongside having a conversation with customers about their allergen needs, all Out of Home businesses in England, Wales and Northern Ireland are now encouraged to have written information about their non-prepacked foods.

This could include everything from items sold over the deli counter to a meal served in a restaurant or a dish prepared in a food truck.

Get ahead of the changes

These standards aren't yet mandatory or a legal requirement, but putting best practices in place will mean you're prepared in case it becomes law. These changes will also help you build trust with your customers by showing you're taking their safety seriously.

Be completely clear

Whether it's on your menu, labels or specials board, you need to list all the allergens contained in a dish or item. This can be done using words or icons (which are downloadable from the FSA) eg. chicken satay: contains wheat, soy, fish and peanut.

Support your team

From having conversations with customers about their allergens as they come through the door to knowing how to answer questions accurately and confidently, it's important to give your team thorough allergens training that's updated as regularly as needed.

Share info everywhere

Beyond your menus, you should have extra materials to give customers all the allergen information they need. Matrixes, posters and online resources accessible via apps or QR codes will help protect customers as well as secure their trust.

Know your allergens

Keep your customers safe with up-to-date allergens knowledge

Celery

Although you'd spot this leafy green on the shelf, it's usually hidden in products and ingredients, so always check the label. Look out for the root, stalk, seeds or leaves in stock cubes, condiments, spice mixes and some juices.

Crustaceans

This seafood family typically has a hard shell, no backbone, a segmented body and jointed legs. Think prawns, shrimp, crab, lobsters and crayfish. Prawn allergens aren't easily broken down by cooking or heating, so ensure there's no cross contamination.

Eggs

This category includes any egg from a bird. They can be well cooked, loosely cooked or raw in many premade goods and condiments. For family-friendly venues, take extra note, as they're a common allergen for babies and children.

Fish

Those with a serious fish allergy will avoid the obvious dishes but you also need to be mindful of Asian foods, certain sauces, dressings and gelatines. Cross contact can be a risk, so make sure you prepare fish on separate surfaces.

Gluten

Wheat, rye and barley are in bakes, cereals, pasta and sauces but also beer, batters, pie fillings and spice mixes. Intolerances and sensitivities can avoid gluten, but it's a serious risk for coeliacs, meaning this allergen should be handled with care.

Lupin

Lupin is a legume (or seed) from the garden flower. It can appear on labels as 'lupine', 'lupin flour', 'lupin seed' or 'lupin bean'. Look out for this allergen in part-baked bread, pastry, pasta, noodles and even sausages or burgers.

Lactose

Lactose appears in many recipes and products. If you see milk, whey, cheese, yogurt, cream, casein or lacto on a label, it's likely to contain lactose. Alongside lactose intolerances, milk allergies are common, so be sure to check with customers.

Molluscs

With a hinged shell, clams, mussels, oysters and scallops are a common allergen. Mark any dishes or sauces clearly on your menus, check your beer and wine labels for 'fining agent' and handle molluscs with care.

Mustard

Pre-made or homemade, the seeds or paste can be found in pickles, sauces, dressings and fillings. Be mindful of the powdered form as a rub for meat too. The allergy is often caused by a reaction between pollen and mustard proteins.

Nuts

The tree nut allergy is different to peanuts, but kids and adults often have both. The family includes almonds, brazils, cashews, hazelnuts, macadamia, pecans, pistachios, shea and walnuts. Be aware of 'may contain nuts' labels too.

Peanuts

A common allergen, particularly for children, peanuts can cause fast, severe reactions. Distinct from other nut allergies, clearly highlight foods that contain peanuts and explain how you handle them to customers.

Sesame

Hummus, tahini, oil and halva are the most common sesame products other than seeds. Double check labels of pre-made goods or ingredients and use the seeds to clearly mark out any baked goods or dishes containing the allergen.

Soya

A whopping 60% of pre-made food features soya*, making it tricky to avoid. Soya on some labels, many Asian goods such as tempeh, tofu, teriyaki and miso also contain the allergen, as do some vegetable oils and broths.

Sulphites

Although a rare allergy, up to 13% of people with asthma are affected by this allergen*. Often used as a preservative, you'll likely find them in dried fruit, pickled food, soft drinks and condiments, as well as many wines.

Sweet enough?

Here's how to best use the addictive and delicious sweet stuff

Since the dawn of time, we've been in love with all things sweet. One of life's big indulgences, it's got a bad reputation in recent years. It's not all about processed food and drinks, though – sweetness can come from various sources, some healthy, some not so.

It's all about balance. Counteract sweetness by adding bitter (dark chocolate is good), spicy (chilli in savoury food) and sour notes (dairy can help here).

Savoury meals can benefit from something sweet too – dried fruit in tagines or sugar in a tomato sauce.

FRUIT

This is the healthiest way to add sweetness to a dish, while bringing bags of flavour. One of the best to pack a real punch is mango – known as the sweetest fruit. You don't need much – try it in cheesecakes, tarts and ice cream. Add a squeeze of lime to tame the sugar.

NATURAL SYRUPS

A natural companion to pancakes, maple syrup can also be drizzled over baked pears, ice cream and toasted pecans, or try it as a glaze for roasted parsnips.

Salted caramel is everywhere, but have you heard of salted honey? Look up salted honey pie – a specials must-try!

SUGAR

Sugar comes in many forms. The brown sugars (light and dark soft) have caramel notes that work in cakes and cookies. A spoon in Thai dishes complements spicy and sour notes. The rich molasses taste of muscovado makes it perfect in marinades or BBQ sauce.

VEGETABLES

Veggies such as squash and sweet potato are a brilliant way of adding sweetness to a dish while also keeping it healthy. Combine with salty or spicy tastes to keep the saccharine content balanced – think paprika sweet potato fries or squash soup with a spoon of curry paste.

Tuna and Sweetcorn Ciabatta Pizza

Heart-healthy

The fibre, potassium, magnesium, folate and antioxidants in beans can help lower blood pressure and cholesterol levels, both of which are contributing factors to heart disease.

Good for the guts

With plenty of fibre and oligosaccharides, gut bacteria have to work hard to break down beans, which is a workout for your intestines. Soak them well first to stop gassiness.

Unbeatable beans

Full of goodness, here's why you should be packing in the pulses

Blood sugar benefits

Pulses and beans have a low glycaemic index, meaning they don't cause blood sugar to spike. This supports healthy appetites, especially in those with diabetes.

Full-up feelings

Eating more beans can help you feel fuller for longer thanks to their protein and fibre. Low in fat, they can help reduce calorie intake and manage weight.

Source: Zoe Nutrition

Cheap, fast cooking and flavourful

Dried or canned, beans and pulses are highly affordable and easy to cook with. Little flavour sponges, they're delicious added to salads, soups and stews, and can be a great meat substitute. The Bold Bean Co. source their beans for quality and cook them to perfection with just a pinch of salt, giving maximum health benefits and natural flavours.

Béchamel with Butter Sauce

Our Béchamel with Butter Sauce is a wonderfully creamy base for bringing a supremely smooth consistency to your savoury dishes. Its silky smoothness provides a buttery bedrock for crafting everything from, deliciously rich lasagnes, cauliflower cheeses, stroganoffs and pie fillings to lobster thermidor, Greek pastitsio and cheese fondue.

Nacho Cheese Sauce

Made with real cheddar, its mildly spiced tang is just as at home on nachos, dirty fries and hotdogs as it is in more unexpected dishes like waffles, or as a creamy sauce base for chicken and pasta. With its vibrant colour and great cling, it's perfect for sharing platters and dips. We know some like it hot and this sauce works well with added inclusions like fresh chilli or jalapenos. Or when you need to cool things down, this clever sauce is freeze-thaw stable in application.

Hollandaise Sauce

It's easy to punch up your eggs, pasta, fish and asparagus dishes with our blissfully buttery Hollandaise Sauce. It also works brilliantly with your own added ingredients if you want to add your own little twist – or you can add tarragon and white wine vinegar for a fool-proof Béarnaise sauce.

5 tips for back-of-the-net events

There are lots of big sports events this year, score big with our advice

Promote key dates

Make it clear you're showing the big matches by sharing the events schedule. Put up posters with times and dates in your venue and share these schedules across your social media. Double-check the times are in British Summer Time if the event is held abroad.

Get the TV set up

Check which channels your event is being run on. Sign up and pay for subscriptions if you need it. Make sure everyone in your venue knows how to switch channels and when they need to change. In the event of sports or match clashes, have multiple TV zones set up for different fans.

Run quick-serve promos

Fans spend 36% more than usual when the footie is on.* Take advantage of all sports events by putting on promotions for quick-serve dishes. Nachos, loaded fries and chicken tenders are all great snacks for groups and will tempt customers in 3-for-2 deals.

Let them log in

To catch up with their family, post on socials or check in on emails, 85% of those watching sports in pubs or bars expect free WiFi.* Put your login details up on signs, menus and beer mats to make it super-easy. Be sure to promote your social tags too!

Pre-match drinks and snacks

Encourage customers to come early by creating an atmosphere before the match or sports event. Put on 'happy hour' special offers with your best-selling drinks and put together food menus so they can snack before and during events.

QUALITY TEA MATTERS

TEA TYPES

There are more than 3,000 varieties of tea but the main four popular in the UK are black, green, yellow and pu-erh, each differentiated by how their leaves are processed.

BLACK

The star of the tea world, black tea leaves turn dark and robust during full oxidation for a full-bodied flavour.

Technique: Steep in boiling water for up to five minutes. A splash of milk and touch of sugar makes a classic English Breakfast tea.

GREEN

Steaming or pan-frying stops any oxidation and ensures the antioxidants and subtle flavours remain.

Technique: Vibrant in flavour, it's usually a more delicate taste that requires water just below boiling point for up to three minutes.

OR TRY THESE BREWS

YELLOW

A rare tea similar to its white cousin, it's known for its sweet, smooth and mellow honeyed flavour and is definitely one for your premium price speciality drinks menu.

PU-ERH TEA

A fermented loose leaf tea with earthy and woody flavours created by microbial ageing over many years. Multiple short infusions are recommended.

PERFECT PAIRINGS

A quality cup of tea demands a sweet treat. Try these ideas to upsell.

• Morning: The tannins in a strong, malty Teapigs Breakfast or All Day tea blend of Assam, Rwandan and Ceylon cut through the fat of a Full English, leaving the palate refreshed.

• Dim Sum: Floral notes of a light oolong are perfect alongside umami flavours, leaving the palate refreshed and wanting more.

• Curry: The sweetness of a chamomile tea counteracts the heat and its floral notes are a complex complement to any chilli-based plate.

Drinkable desserts

No room for pudding? Put a sweet drink on your menu instead

Calorie and cost consciousness can put people off choosing dessert. Drinks are a lighter option that still feels like a treat. Care home chefs can also fortify these drinks to pack nutrients in these easily consumable desserts. Follow the trends below to delight your customers.

Go for bold flavours

Pistachio, bubblegum, raspberry and rose... experiment with interesting flavour options to pique people's curiosity (and tastebuds). You could even recreate classic desserts in drink form. Tiramisu, banoffee or apple pie are delicious combos to try.

Give plant-based options

Dietary preferences, allergies and intolerances mean more people are looking for plant-based alternatives. If you're adding a milk-based drink to the menu, make sure you have oat, soya and coconut milk alongside dairy. The same goes for ice cream.

Personalise toppings

If a drink looks great and appeals to their personal tastes, people are more likely to try it. Whether they have a low appetite or want to post on their Instagram, let people choose their own toppings and sauces so they can enjoy your dessert drink exactly how they like it.

Crisps & Snacks

Who doesn't love a tasty snack? Serve the perfect partner to any dish, drink or grab-and-go meal with our crisps and snacks range. Find new favourites or stock up on customer crowd pleasers easily with our selection of irresistible options

◆ Food to Go ◆ Quick Serve ◆ Sports Venues ◆ Hotels ◆ Restaurants ◆ Pubs & Bars ◆ Workplace ◆ Schools & Hospitals

Grab and go

Snacks that are easy to grab are more likely to sell. Whether they're below the till, on the counter or on shelves in high-traffic areas, make it as painless as possible for customers to pick up snacks alongside their main order.

Eye-level visuals

Use bright colours, bold text or even lights to draw your customers' eyes to the snack selection. Place them near focal points behind your bar or counter, such as clocks or chalkboard menus, so they're more likely to be spotted.

Boost your impulse buys

Lift your snack sales by driving spontaneous customer purchases

Bundle up

£5 lunch deals with a drink and sandwich, coffee and chocolate bar combos, or pint and snack add-ons can all tempt customers to purchase. Price it so they feel like they're getting good value and include your best sellers in the deals.

Highlight new items

Having a good variety of options, including healthier alternatives, will capture more attention. Use small chalkboards to showcase new flavours or unusual snacks (such as popcorn or jerky). Rotate regularly to keep people interested.

Get your sizes right

If grab bags and chocolate duos aren't selling, then you may need to switch to more treat-sized options. Whether customers are calorie conscious or want smaller packs for their children, different servings attract all appetites.

ONE TO WATCH

Pipers 600g Tub

Produced with Welsh salt, Pipers Anglesey Sea Salt crisps are an elevated interpretation of a British classic. These 600g tubs are great for pubs, cafes, restaurants, workplaces and more that want to boost sales by adding them to any dish for that special, premium crunch.

Tastier Traditional Roast Lunch

Butcher's Guide

Cook each cut correctly to maximise your meat's flavour and taste

Beef

Brisket

Taken from the breast, low and slow cooking is best. Smoke for extra flavour.

Blade

Rich in taste and often cheaper, pot roast, braise or stew for the best texture.

Flank

A lean, flat cut, it's best sliced and cooked quickly for fajitas, stir-fries or salads.

Rib

Thick and meaty, roast as a whole joint or marinade and slow cook.

Topside

Budget friendly, with a firm texture, it's best roasted whole or diced and stewed.

Ox cheek

Turn this tough cut tender by cooking it low and slow in a sauce or marinade.

Pork

Belly

Fatty, rich and tender, thick pieces are great pan fried, seasoned and sliced.

Shoulder

For next-level pulled pork, choose this joint, as its flavour holds up to bold spices.

Leg

A lean and versatile cut, get it as a joint or pre-sliced for easier cooking.

Hock

Taken from the lower leg, it's great smoked or used in soup and stocks.

Lamb

Rack

Fully trimmed and roasted, it's delicious and looks great plated.

Rump

A forgiving cut, it stays moist and tender when roasted, grilled or pan-fried.

Breast

Cheaper but full of flavour, it has plenty of fat that adds richness to stews.

Loin chops

Famous for their tenderness, simply season and pan-fry for a delicious meal.

Chicken

Breast

The most popular white meat with minimal fat, perfect for pan-frying.

Wing

Bake at a high heat or deep fry to get a crispy skin and tender meat.

Thigh

A low-cost, tender and rich leg cut that suits frying, baking or slow-cooking.

How to make cost-effective healthy meals for one- to five-year-olds

Nurseries, preschools and other early years providers now need to consider new nutrition guidance as part of the Early Years Foundation Stage (EYFS) statutory framework. Here's how to balance their plate.

Fruit and vegetables

- Fresh, frozen, canned or dried
- Carotenes, vitamin C, zinc, iron and fibre
- Five portions a day, one with each meal and some snacks
- One portion = 40g

Dairy and alternatives

- Milk, cheese, yogurt, fromage frais
- Protein, calcium and vitamin A
- Three portions a day, as meals, snacks and drinks
- One portion = 150ml milk, 15g cheese, 60g yogurt

Carbohydrates

- Potatoes, bread, pasta, cereals and grains
- Fibre, B vitamins and iron
- Four portions a day, one with each meal and at least one snack
- One portion = an average potato, 25g bread, 80g pasta or rice

Proteins

- Beans, pulses, fish, eggs and meat
- Iron, zinc, omega 3 acids, vitamins A and D
- Two portions a day, one as lunch and tea
- One portion = 55g eggs or beans, 40g meat or fish

Get kids involved

Food activities can build confidence, language and other skills. You could bake bread, grow herbs or veggies, and teach them about exotic fruits.

4 WAYS WITH MEADOWLAND DOUBLE CREAM ALTERNATIVE

A blend of buttermilk and vegetable oil, this alternative is more stable than dairy cream. Here are four ways to use it

1 LEMON POSSET

Lemon curd
Homemade or not, it needs to be zesty

Meadowland
Whip into soft peaks and fold in curd

Shortbread
Bake and serve a slice on the side

2 BUTTER CHICKEN CURRY

Chicken thighs
Marinate slices in a spice paste

Passata
Cook in spices, onions, garlic and chilli

Meadowland
Finish the sauce with a dash

3 MUSHROOM PASTA

Mushrooms
Slice and fry off with garlic and onions

Meadowland
Add to the mushrooms and heat to thicken

Tagliatelle
Cook to al dente and toss in the sauce

4 STRAWBERRY SUNDAES

Fresh strawberries
Chop and cook into a compote

Ice cream
Vanilla or strawberry, layer in a tall glass

Meadowland
Whip to stiff peaks and pipe to finish

Frittata

Need an easy lunch option? A veggie frittata is quick and healthy. Fry a combo of fresh veg and frozen peas or sweetcorn, then pour over whisked eggs and cook until firm.

Next-level veg

There's more to frozen veg than peas and sweetcorn. Mediterranean medleys, earthy edamame, butternut squash and zingy ginger can all be frozen to speed up prep next time.

SAVVY
SHORTCUTS

Frozen veg

It's time to celebrate nutrient-packed frozen veg with these inventive hacks

Bar snacks

It's easy to turn humble frozen veg into showstopping snacks and finger food. Make mini pasties, nuggets or veggie rolls by adding mashed potato and deep-frying or wrapping in pastry and baking.

Go Asian

Make bold Asian flavours from basic veg by adding spices, soy or sweet chilli. Stir-fry and serve with rice or noodles for a fast and flavoursome dish.

Fishmonger's Guide

When it comes to fishy business, know your cockles and claws

Lobster

Claw

Once cooked, crack the claws for sweet, white meat to flake in dishes.

Head

Full of edible meat, you can also use the head in bisques and sauces.

Carapace

The shell that covers the body with little meat, best used for stocks.

Tail

Grill, boil, steam or bake the delicious white meat alone or in the shell.

Squid

Body

Slice into rings or score before cooking very quickly or slowly.

Tentacles

Great battered in a light coating and deep fried as a starter.

Ink

Striking in colour and flavour, cook it into pasta or rice dishes.

Shrimp

Head

Fully edible, they can be deep fried as a crispy snack.

Tail meat

Sauté, boil, grill or bake until the meat turns pink and opaque.

Tail

Add flavour by leaving on the shrimp or use in sauces and stocks.

Fish

Head

Roast whole for sauces or stocks or use the tender, juicy cheeks.

Kama

Known as the collar, it's a flavourful cut that's tasty when fried.

Abdomen meat

Use fillet portions to create a range of textures or flavours.

Back meat

Loins and steaks are taken close to the spine, so worth deboning.

Caviar

A luxury garnish, the salt-cured eggs are packed with flavour.

Tail meat

Firmer in texture, it's great for roasting, grilling or frying.

Tail

The bone-in cut can be roasted whole to create a tasty dish.

freezer must-haves

Make up meals quickly and minimise food waste with these frozen heroes

Fries

They're likely already on your shopping list, but frozen fries or chips can be baked or deep fried without defrosting. Load them with toppings for a quick-serve dish, coat in spices for extra flavour or add them to meals as a treat-worthy side.

Fruit and veg

Berries and sliced bananas are ready to blend into smoothies or juices. Throw them straight into a basic cake mix for a quick flavour or health boost. Broccoli, peas, spinach or carrots can also be easily boiled or steamed into dishes or sides.

Grated cheese

Sprinkle shredded mozzarella straight over pasta dishes and bake or grill for a stretchy, melted topping. Mix mature cheddar into mash or sauces to pack them full of flavour. Any hard or semi-hard cheese can be grated and frozen for later.

Flakes

Potato flakes are unexpectedly versatile. Whisk them up to create instant mash potato. Roll meats or veggies in them and deep fry for a quick, crispy coating. Use them as a filler, binder or thickener for meatballs, soups and gravies.

Bread

Slice and freeze loaves, then toast or defrost in the microwave for quick-serve sides or sandwiches. It's a great way to keep gluten-free options fresh if they're not used regularly. Wraps and tortillas can also be stored this way.

Cut your impact with sustainable supplies

How choosing the right non-food supplies can boost your sustainability

Food waste, energy use and your supply chain are go-to areas for minimising your environmental impact. Opting for greener manufacturing of cling film, baking parchment and kitchen foil can also make a big difference.

Cling film

Using cling film can massively cut your food waste, which emits huge amounts of greenhouse gases. But throwing away standard cling films can have a big impact in itself.

Cling film is usually made from PVC or PE plastics, and the UK lacks the recycling infrastructure to process these materials on a wide scale. Despite this, companies are doing their bit to ensure their operation is as efficient as possible. Prowrap, based in Bristol, is powered by renewable energy and operates under a zero landfill guarantee.

Prowrap has also developed a sustainable alternative. PVC-free and designed to be fully recyclable in supermarket soft plastics streams and some kerbside collections, Ecocling film is a professional-grade wrap that can cut environmental impact.

Baking parchment

The silicone coating on many baking parchments is what stops foods from sticking. It's also what prevents parchment from being recycled. Some greaseproof papers can decompose in a few months with the right composting process. But in landfill, it can remain for decades.

The manufacturing process of baking parchment, which turns wood pulp into paper, is also energy-intensive. However, by choosing white baking parchment over brown options, you can significantly cut carbon footprint. For example, Prowrap's white paper takes 20kWh less power per tonne to produce.

Biodegradable and compostable, Speedwrap Pro baking parchment and Prowrap catering baking parchment are also certified by the FSC. This means the wood pulp is sourced sustainably, so their production doesn't contribute to deforestation or forest degradation.

Aluminium foil

Aluminium foil is another essential supply for keeping food waste low. A great barrier against light, air and moisture, it's also reusable when washed. However, the foil production process uses lots of energy, and produces large amounts of greenhouse gases.

If it ends up in landfill, foil can take up to 400 years to completely decompose. So, making sure they're placed in the right bins is essential.

All Prowrap foils are 100% recyclable, and its Infinity Foil rolls are proudly made from recycled content. Its cutterboxes also have superior serrated edges, or you can choose pre-cut foil sheets to keep close tabs on your material use.

Minimise your impact with Prowrap

- All of Prowrap's products are packaged in fully-recyclable cardboard and printed with water-based inks, minimising landfill waste
- All Speedwrap Pro and Prowrap catering products are made in the UK, cutting supply chain carbon footprint
- Prowrap has made the switch to 97% renewable electricity, minimising production-related greenhouse gases

Mojito Mocktail

Ingredients

- 6 mint leaves
- Apple & lime juice
- Elderflower cordial
- Crushed ice
- 1 sprig of mint

Method

1. Muddle the mint leaves in the bottom of a glass to extract the juices and flavour.
2. Add the fruit juice and cordial, ice and stir. Top with soda water.
3. Garnish with the mint.

BEST SELLER

Britvic Orange Juice

Chosen by all ages and enjoyed at all times of day, fruit juices remain a popular choice, whatever your outlet, with orange juice as the top seller. Whether you serve it alone as a soft drink or as a mixer for your spirits selection, Britvic Orange Juice is a must-stock for your chiller.

Mocktail trends to refresh your menu

See what TikTok trends could uplift your 2026 non-alcoholic drinks offering

Sleepy Girl Mocktail

Made with cherry juice, magnesium powder and soda, the Sleepy Girl Mocktail went viral on TikTok for its ability to support better rest. More people want to relax without alcohol and look for drinks that enhance wellness. Highlight the benefits of health-focused drinks on your menu, such as hydration, energy or mental clarity.

Artisanal flavours

Botanicals, herbs and florals taste delicately refreshing and look beautiful in a glass. Appealing on social media, artisanal mocktails are great additions to brunch or evening menus. Mix lavender, elderflower or rosemary with fresh mixers such as bitter lemon tonic for elevated zero-alcohol options.

Gut-friendly options

Whether customers are balancing their microbiome or want a drink that'll help with digestion, gut-friendly drinks are on the rise. Kombucha, fermented teas and ingredients such as ginger beer all make great bases for mocktails or can be served simply over the rocks.

Rich and savoury

Sugar-conscious drinkers want alternatives that are equally as punchy in flavour. Umami, savoury flavours are attracting their attention. Use bases such as tomato juice to create zero-alcohol versions of classics like the Bloody Mary, a Gibson or Gimlet. Stock up on vinegar, bitters and olives to create your own fresh inventions.

Premium ingredients

Drinkers might not want as much alcohol in their drinks, but they don't want mocktail options to compromise on quality. Alongside fresh ingredients and homemade syrups or flavourings, having premium mixers such as Schweppes and grown-up non-alcoholic beverages on your menu is essential to keep them coming back.
